but the professional activity is not. The rules of professional conduct are determined directly by the state through national legislation. The physical therapist must be state registered and obtain a licence to practice. The Swedish physiotherapy association has established a code of ethics for physical therapists. The national authority responsible for the physiotherapy profession in Sweden is "The National Board of Health and Welfare". There are sufficient employment opportunities for physical therapists in Sweden at the moment.

Practice of physiotherapy:

The physiotherapy services in Sweden are not determined by the profession. The physical therapist determines the clinical intervention of physiotherapy him/herself. Sweden offers both public and private physiotherapy services. The insurance cover for physiotherapy is paid through the national health care system.

Twinning:

The Swedish association has not yet established any twinning program but herewith announces its wishes to do so.
